

Kurt Stege, Staff Attorney, has reviewed disputes relating to employment with the State of Wisconsin since 1981. He was the hearing examiner for the Wisconsin Personnel Commission and served as the Personnel Commission's legal counsel from 2001 until 2003, when that agency was abolished and a segment of its responsibilities transferred to the WERC. He has been employed by the WERC since 2003 and focuses his attention on those cases filed with the agency pursuant to Secs. 230.44 and .45, Stats. He received his undergraduate degree from Dartmouth College in 1974 and graduated from the University of Wisconsin Law School in 1978.
