

Matthew Greer, Staff Attorney, is a native of rural Arizona. He received his undergraduate degree from Oklahoma Baptist University in 1999 and his law degree, with a certificate in Labor and Employment Law, from Chicago-Kent College of Law in 2008. For over seven years prior to and during law school Matt worked as a human resources professional, primarily in the publishing industry in Chicago. He also clerked and practiced law in the labor and employment law practice group of a union side law firm in Chicago for more than two years prior to joining the Commission's staff in January 2010.
